SPORT AGAINST RACISM IRELAND

Following the success of last year's FARE Football People Action Weeks Against Discrimination, SARI have been asked to co-ordinate the events in Ireland again this year. SARI will be travelling around the country delivering football training sessions incorporating anti-discrimination workshops to children aged 11-14. The sessions will comprise football training games and exercises with inbuilt awareness of what it means to discriminate both on and off the pitch.

Addressing issues such as sexism, racism and homophobia the workshops will be delivered by SARI coaches from ethnic minority backgrounds.

If your community group, school or organisation would like to take part in the Football Action Weeks then please contact us at: info@sari.ie
